In the heat I saw lots of rainbow presents. Outside I hear the wind rattling the trees. Outside I touched the grey little donkey. The yummy taste of hot vimpole dissolving in my slimy mouth. I smell the hot fire burning outside. On the bench myself could see a orange robin tweeting. I could hear the crackling of the fire. On the icy snow I felt the trunk of a massive tree. On the snow I saw a snow fox about to get its prey. Next to the heat I saw a male penguin sitting on its eggs and a white bear sleeping on the log.

On the palm tree I saw red and white hermit crabs protecting their young. I taste the warm tasty sausages dissolving in my slimy mouth that can touch the soft, smooth sand tickling my feet. In the water I heard a rainbow fish splashing very loud. I smell the roasted sausages making me hungry. I saw a red crab about to pinch me. I heard a loud brown coconut fall down. The taste of a ice lollie pop as cold as snow also I saw a purple octopus eating its prey.
