Lo: Descriptive Writing - The Storm

Darkness descended and rid the sky of its colour. Scanning its surroundings, the beast approached my location. The black shadowy storm smothered the eerie landscape in darkness. Tears from the heavens above fell from the gloomy sky. It swiftly and relentlessly pummeled the earth. Like a steel broadsword, lightning pierced the murky black sky. The creature grew ever nearer, its sinister shriek speeding through the air swiftly and frantically.

The colossal storm crashed through the plain destroying every bit of land in its path. Lightning angrily pounded the ground causing it to shake. Furiously, the storm engulfed the meadow in a wave of inextorable thunder. It howled a deagerying roar so powerful it harshly shoved the trees from side to side. Mother nature's thunderous offspring swallowed the world below.
